Hyas is a busy and expanding planning consultancy seeking an enthusiastic and ambitious Town Planner, with at least a years' post graduate experience in either the private or public sector, to join our team based near to Milton Keynes. As a consultancy with a focus on client support and the creation of high quality places, we are looking for someone with energy, ideas and a passion for good place making. You will help us to develop the business, both with existing clients and through generating ideas for further expansion.

The right person will join us at Consultant level, with the opportunity for career progression within a supportive but ambitious environment, working on a national portfolio of high profile projects. We are looking for someone who is highly driven and entrepreneurial, with an overall mindset of helping to deliver great places for the future.

We pride ourselves in having a strong, positive and collaborative working ethos and will provide excellent career prospects for the right person to grow with the company. We offer an attractive bonus scheme, together with flexible working practices. In this role you will be expected to work across a wide variety of the following areas:

- Involvement in complex development plan and policy issues, mainly relating to new settlements and large scale developments.
- Supporting Directors and Associates directly on projects, including workshops, project meetings etc with clients.
- Assistance in drawing up, presenting and negotiating proposals with clients.
- Researching all areas relating to large scale schemes and masterplanning, as well as the latest policies and procedures, ensuring the company are up to date with emerging practice.
- Gather, interpret and assimilate data for analytical assessment of information.
- Research on live applications, development plans, supplementary guidance and other critical information necessary to support our portfolio of projects.
- Assistance on public consultations and stakeholder engagement, helping prepare materials and attend public events.
- Preparing high quality reports and presentations for use within the company and with clients.
- Supporting with marketing and enhancing the company profile, such as through the use of social media and the evolution of company marketing materials.
